The complexity surrounding all products for human and animal consumption has increased at an exponential rate. Leading this dramatic change has been the European Union through what seems to be its never-ending promulgation of rules, regulations and legislation and, recently, opening of the offices of the European Food Safety Authority - EFSA in Parma.

Compounding already difficult market conditions have been the fundamental differences in the manner in which the European Union and the United States regulate the growing, packaging, labeling and distribution of these products. The entire food business has become a challenging three-dimensional puzzle.

JUST LEGAL SERVICES – SCUOLA DI FORMAZIONE LEGALE

Just Legal Services is a professional legal training company that addresses the needs of all those who want to improve their knowledge by attending post-university courses on topics related to the legal sector. For this purpose Just Legal Services set up a School of Law aimed at meeting the needs of professionals who want to acquire the tools required to face an increasingly competitive and highly specialised working situation. Established in 1998, the School of Law is now a landmark for those working in the legal sector - not just in Milan but in the whole of Italy - who are aware that, in order to train as "European lawyers", it is paramount to have expert knowledge of critical issues. The School of Law's mission is indeed to contribute to the professional qualification of the next generation of lawyers and help them raise to the new challenges of International competition, facilitating their full integration in Europe. The relationship with the professional environment, the presence of highly qualified teachers and the teaching within small groups make Just Legal Services a leading company in the legal training industry and the right partner for a steady growth into the future. Just Legal Services provides also a variety of services addressed to professional firms and societies among professional persons (s.t.p.) as well as legal departments of Italian or multinational companies in order to enable them to process their activities in the best way and under high standard of quality.

To help you better understand these rules and the recent developments in European food law, Just Legal Services, in co-operation with Mondini & Rusconi and Tomasetti & Partners, is pleased to invite to this seminar tailored for corporate legal counsel, international commercial directors, export managers, and owners of family businesses in the food and drink sector.

Just Legal Services opens this seminar to on-line participants so as to enable them to attend from office and save travel and accommodation costs.
